The Intelligencer. It is a fact, though by no means generally discovered or acknowledged, that we carpets in this country. It is not so very many years ago when it was the chief an on every newspaper in the United States bition of our manufacturess to imitate a on every newspaper in the United States to advance a theory of its own to account for the change in politics in Ohio on Tuesday. The falling off in the vote is said to be almost if not entirely sufficient of itself to account for the change. Then there was as the counter part of this apathy the unexpectedly large vote polled by the Workingmen. Then, next, there was the natural desire of the human heart for a change after running in one groot for a good while.

The content of the change is bittion of our manufacturers to imittate as to ideast, as the closely as possible the foreign important one; and though it was even then claim, and though it was even then closely and though it was even then claim, and though it was even then claim

There is one sort of civil service in, as the case might have been.

Since then, the great development, no gre actual practice, viz: the retention for any great number of years of the same party in power. The love of change, like the ailurement of hope, "spring eternal in the human breast," and this is especially true during the cloomy days that inevitable success. an apparently endiess diversity of styling days that inevitably succeed is produced, comprising, it might seem.

The panic of 1837 caused the everything possible, either in design o the gloomy days that inevitably succeed utter rout of the Democracy in 1840, just color, it is as the panic of 1857 assisted materially held power so firmly and extensively since the panic of 1873, despite the radical changes in tusiness which have been going on, involving a transition period from inflation and speculation to contracstrong hold the party has had upon the people of the Northern States. It is mething unparalleled hitherto in the be remo bistory of the country.

"off year" in politics. Last year we had the Presidential election, and we did not get through with it for over four months der the people declined to become excited o soon sgain. We had no Congressmen to elect this year, and it is hard to arouse ons. The workingmen ran a ticket of their own, fearing, as they declared, to trust either of the two political parties ticket enters the field, the Workingmen's recruited from the ranks of the Republi-Germans at Cincinnati are said to have be idle to speculate upon them. We can see no special change of programme likewhat then? It is said that the Democracy have never been able since the war to bear the slightest political good luck. It in-Appoints of par, we do not think that twen the Western Democracy will wish occavort very wildly as the patrons of ew financial schemes. The Eastern and State Senator, and Julius Armstrong. Western Democracy are diametrically apposed in money matters, and this fact, doubtful. Western Democracy are diametrically opposed in money matters, and this fact, together with the fact that Hayes is clothed with the veto power, will tend to repress a large amount of financial slowly, and there can be no accuracy figuring on the Speakership for some days. It is understood that the attempt to form combinations to defeat Mr. Ran-dail has met with no success thus far, and his prospects continue good. He will and his prospects continue good. He will certainly have quite a number of the Southern votes which were given to others two years ago. His most sanguine supporters predict his nomination on the first ballot. With regard to the contest for the Clerkship, outside sentiment seems strongly in lavor of Mr. Caldwell, who is developing a good deal of strength outside of his own section. His friends continue very confident. Virginia has candidates in the field for three out of the five electric offices, and the delegation five electric offices, and the delegation candidates in the field for three out of the five elective offices, and the delegation from that State 18 divided. The result may be the loss of the Postmastership The number of candidates for Doorkeeper increases daily, but few of them can command even the delegations from their own State, and no one of them appears to have any decided strength.

OHIO ELECTION.

CINCINNATI, October 11.—Returns from 1 43 of the 49 county precincts, give Bishop 19,333. West 16,272, and Bont 8,823. Lord, Democrat, for Senator, over A. T. Goshorn, Republican, 2,085; Cappeller, G. Kep., for County Auditor. over H. Hman, Dem., 680; Huneke, Rep., for County Treasurer, over Frotz, Dem., 243. The Democrats seem to have elected the entire ticket, with the exceptions of Hoffman and Frotz, who were scratched for reasons other than political.

The Gazette concedes both branches of the Legislature to the Democrats, and any that Bishops majority, in the State, I will not be less than 20,000.

The Enquirer claims a majority, on joint ballot, of 25, thus securing the election of a Democratis Senator. In this city the German Republicans largely voted the Workingmen's ticket. The Workingmen claim that their ticket will foot up 11,000 votes, though it is not probable that it will greatly exceed the

The immediate cause is the deatl of the senior partner, Alex, Cross, at Val-We are constantly receiving this of the senior pariner, Alex. Cross, at Valparaiso. September 20th, the surviving members being ignorant of the exact relations between the Valparaiso branch and the parent house, and judged it best to suspend payment until a statement of the account was received. Before suspending, the firm consulted with the municipal creditors. The firm is largely interested in the leading mining property on the coast, being treasurers and managers of several prominent Calafornia mines, including the Black Bear, Plumas, Eureka and others, also treasurers of the Leeds Mining Company, and represent the English interest in Sufro tunnel.
They were also agents for a number of insurance companies, which, it is stated,
will not be affected by the suspension.
The general belief is that the firm will come out all right. THE FINEST and BEST ever introduced Inferior Brands.
